Report for 2024-25 (Second term)

Introduction

Sanat is a cheerful boy who is friendly with all. He always talks with a smile. He is well-built, strong and healthy. But he needs to maintain more hygiene with his body as well as his belongings. He should also teach hygiene to his younger brother Anuraj as they stay in the hostel. Sanat's best friends are Sakshi and Gaurav. He enjoys spending time discussing topics with them. He takes less interest in academics and enjoys sports more. But he has shown some improvement in academics. He loves playing football the most.

Mathematics

Sanat is a very bright child and is currently working on class 5 maths book, having already completed the class book. In the class 5 book, he has finished the revision section and is now studying multiplication. While working on multiplication, he often makes silly mistakes in addition or multiplication tables, and he struggles with multiplying three- or four-digit numbers, usually getting them wrong the first time

Sanat is an intelligent boy who likes reading but can do with some more improvement in his studies. He liked studying about the growth of new ideas such as the origin of the religions like Buddhism and Jainism. He can understand the concepts better when the teachers teach them and later reads the concepts himself. He takes part in the group discussions and is attentive in the class. He usually gives the correct answer to the questions that are orally asked. He hesitates in answering the questions. Whenever he faces any difficulty while answering the questions, he takes the help of his friends and his teachers. He writes in a neat and tidy handwriting and endeavours to write better. He normally scores good marks in the test.

but correcting them on the second attempt. He also made many silly mistakes in the division chapter.

Science

After finishing the 5th book, he has started the 6th grade book of Living Science. He gave the whole book test for his course book. He secured good marks in the test. He is shy and is normally quiet in class. He likes to listen more than speak in class. He is very attentive and active during class. He has started performing better than before in the tests. He likes to learn new things and do outdoor activities like going to the villages and to the garden to learn about plants and flowers. He liked the chapter Rocks and Minerals. He does the question answers of the chapters himself but sometimes takes help.

Social Science

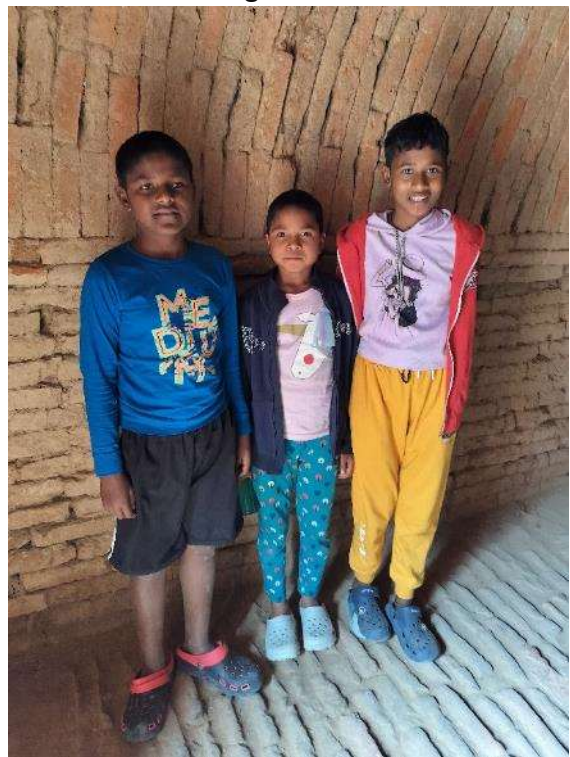

Hindi

In these few months Sanat has made significant improvement. While reading when difficult words are there, he always asks for help. He is not able to read with concentration. He has to improve his handwriting. Once in a week he does group reading and after reading, he takes dictation; but his spellings are not good and he has to work hard to improve his spellings. Sanat has successfully completed the "Gunjan Book 3," and doing the 4th class book, where he demonstrates resilience and determination in attempting to solve questions. He is not able to find the correct answer to the question but he tries. In grammar he is doing the 3rd class book, where the chapters are quite difficult for him to understand. He has learnt how to write the dialogues. On 21st of February he performed in a short play where he had got the role of Mirra's brother. He was little nervous on the stage.

English

Sanat understands simple English. To improve his understanding and other skills such as speaking and writing skills, he is reminded to form a habit of speaking in English and to read lots of books. He needs to put in more effort to improve his language skills. Although he finds difficulty in understanding the language very well, he actively takes part in the class activities. He is doing grammar of 3rd class. He has completed nouns, adjectives, articles and verbs. Now he is doing exercises on pronouns. He has understood the previous concepts although he took some time understanding the application of articles, especially 'the'. He also studies from a comprehension book of class three. He has completed three chapters. He enjoyed reading the stories although he did not understand them very well. On some days he gets to read books during the class. While reading, he finds difficulty in understanding the meanings of some words, but he hesitates asking and refers to a dictionary. He has completed reading some books of Enid Blyton namely 'The enchanted bellows', 'Big eyes the enchanter', 'The little brown bear' and 'The little witch-dog'. He had fun reading these books although he had difficulty understanding every single word. He requires improvement in his reading skills such as pronunciation, fluency and ability to break the words and read. He has to work hard in improving his handwriting as well.

Dance

Sanat finds learning the steps a little difficult but remains interested in dance. He tries to keep up with the steps. He performed Dashavatar for Sports Day and also knows the basic steps of Kathak.

Arts

Sanat loves doing craft work with great excitement. This time, he made a lot of drawings of a star and a ball. He always tries to do his work neatly and complete it on time. Although he feels that he is not very good at colouring, he still puts his best effort to make his artwork look nice. He enjoys experimenting with different designs and learning new techniques in art class. Even when something seems difficult, he does not give up takes interest in doing the exercises when he is made the leader. After some time, he asks to change the leader. Now his body needs to do rigorous exercises and running. He enjoys playing volleyball, especially when an expert joins his team. When on the court, he shows good passing skills and makes an effort to improve the techniques. With the right motivation, Sanat has the potential to develop in sports.

Shramdaan

Sanat actively engages himself in shramdaan in the morning. He does various activities which rotates in a cyclic order throughout the week. In school cleaning, he sweeps the dirt. Next day he goes to the kitchen, and enjoys cutting vegetables. He has learnt to peel and cut some vegetables, but needs more practise to bring easily and keeps practising. His friends and teachers appreciate his enthusiasm and dedication to his work. Over time, he hopes to improve his colouring skills and make his drawings even more vibrant and beautiful.

Puzzles

Sanat comes on time for the class. He loves fixing the puzzles in a group, especially with his close friends. He enjoys fixing puzzle related to Avengers and Marval heroes. He sits properly during the class and fixes puzzles with concentration. He is able to complete the puzzles of about 500 to 1000 pieces in a group.

Games

Santat reaches the field on time and participates in group concentration. He refinement. The next day he collects the trash outside the girls' hostel or does gardening. The next day, he is his turn for toilet cleaning. He cleans the toilets and bathrooms in his hostel. Then he has boys' hostel cleaning where he sweeps dust and sometimes cleans the open drain. In the last shramdaan he gets engaged with gardening. He waters the plants and also does digging when required in the school and his hostel gardens. He does all these activities sincerely. He enjoys doing school cleaning the most.

Satsang

Sanat attends the satsang every evening although he takes less interest in it. He needs to be punctual every day. He needs a bit of improvement in his sitting posture. He sings songs if he likes the song, when in a mood or when told to sing. He also sings and even enjoys a lot when he gets involved in an antakshyari game.

Celebrations

Sanat tries to take part in every programme and festivals of the school. He enjoys performing plays more than singing and dancing. On Children's Day, he had a lot of fun swimming, learning kayaking and eating delicious food at the picnic. He is a strong and brave boy, so he sat on the kayak unafraid and learnt rowing at a double quick speed, although it was new for him. He participated in singing a sargam on 29th November. He was less interested in it but still sang along with his group. On Christmas, he performed a carol 'It's Christmas'. He enjoyed singing this although he is less fond of singing. On the Mother's birthday, he enacted a Hindi play which was based on the childhood of The Mother. He was Mathieu, started learning to ride the unicycle. He was confident within three weeks.

Mirra's (The Mother) elder brother in the play. He played his role very well. He had a few lines of dialogues which he spoke clearly and confidently. He also did the acting as per the need in the scenes. He had fun performing this play. More than that, he was happy to know about The Mother's childhood and learn good lessons from it. On Holi, Sanat enjoyed seeing the matki phod (breaking of the pot) and eating the delicious food items put up in stalls. He liked drinking lassi and eating pani puri the most. He also played Holi with colours with his friends and took part in the mud bath, but didn't like it much.

Sports Day- Sanat participated in the unicycle corner for the Annual Sports Day. He really wanted to learn to ride the unicycle, though he had never even ridden a bicycle. At the beginning he was really nervous. He saw his friends falling and getting hurt which made him even more nervous. For a few days he just sat on the basketball court looking at his friends riding the unicycle. But slowly he took support of his friends, and day by day
