Introduction

My name is Neela Gouda, and I am 19 years old. I have eight members in my family, including my grandparents and parents. Among my siblings, I am the third. I enjoy studying and teaching small children; I feel happy and cheerful when they are around me. I have been assigned the role of a group teacher for Perseverance, and I am delighted to take on this responsibility. I will do my best to impart knowledge to them. Although they can be naughty at times, I still enjoy teaching their class.

Academics

I am currently preparing for the upcoming exams scheduled for December. I have ten subjects to cover:

1. BEGC 105 American Literature
2. BEGC 106 Popular Literature
3. BEGC 107 British Literature: 17th and 18th Centuries
4. BEGC 108 British Literature: 18th Century
5. BEGC 109 British Romantic Literature

6. BEGC 110 British Literature: 19th Century
7. BPCG 174 Psychology and Media
8. BSOG 173 Rethinking Development
9. BEGS 183 Writing and Studying Skills
10. BPCS 186 Stress Management

I have studied these subjects with Pranjal bhaiya, who has thoroughly explained these chapters, stories, and poems in the syllabus. Now that he has completed my syllabus, I am revising these subjects independently, reading and comprehending them on my own. Sometimes, I seek help from YouTube videos to grasp certain concepts and simplify them. I occasionally consult Pranjal bhaiya to clarify doubts; he explains with helpful illustrations, making learning enjoyable. I have developed a habit of waking up early to study, and I find this routine quite rewarding. I put in long hours to prepare for the exams and ensure that I am thoroughly prepared. I study by myself and also take some classes, such as English for the Gratitude group, Project class for Smile group, and Social Science for Perseverance.

Volunteering

Smile Group: I am involved in the Smile group's project class, where I focus on different topics. I initially had reservations about attending this class, but after participating, I found it intriguing. It allowed me to learn a lot of information on various topics. Under Bina didi's guidance, I conducted classes for the children, and we gathered information

from reference
books,
storybooks,
and videos. I have completed several projects with the Smile
group, including topics like Plants,
Family

Members, Birds, and Occupations. These projects involved various activities, such as birdwatching, plant growth experiments, and explaining family relations. I have enjoyed these activities and believe that they have enhanced the children's learning experience.

Gratitude Group: I teach English to the tenth-grade students in the Gratitude group. I have completed their 10th-grade NIOS English syllabus and am now focusing on improving their vocabulary, pronunciation, and sentence structure.

I have encouraged them to read extensively to enhance their vocabulary and writing skills. We have read novels together, such as "The Thousand Splendid Suns" and "The Kite Runner," to further develop their language skills.

Perseverance Group: In the Perseverance group, I conduct social science classes.

While it has been challenging to explain complex concepts, I employ various teaching methods to help the children understand the subjects. Some students quickly grasp the concepts, while others require more attention and simplified explanations. It can be challenging, but the children's happy expressions and playful nature make it enjoyable. I cherish their curiosity and their ability to ask questions. I occasionally conduct extra classes for students who need additional assistance, providing them with more information and practical examples to facilitate understanding. I simplify the notes before distributing them to aid memorization.

Shramdan

Shramdan activities begin at 6:30 AM. I am always punctual and ready to guide the children during this period. We rotate our Shramdan duties each month, which include cleaning tasks in areas like the school, garden, hostel, and kitchen. I actively participate in these activities and prefer working alongside the children rather than merely instructing them. I aim to set a good example for the children and teach them the importance of keeping our surroundings clean.

Celebrations

On Ganesh Chaturthi, I performed a dance with the girls of Perseverance. Even though I was nervous after a long break from performing, it was a confident performance. I had taught them the dance and guided their practice, which made the performance
