

Chandrika Muduli

DOB-27th December'12

Attendance-183 out of 183 days

Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Maths

Chandrika is not a communicative girl; she prefers staying alone. She actively participates in all the activities done in the group but lacks self-confidence. She has improved a lot in mathematics and finishes all work on time. Chandrika has no problem in solving word problems of addition, subtraction, and multiplication but has difficulties in solving division. She was able to do the abacus easily up to 3 digits but had difficulties in solving 4 digits. Chandrika was very keen on measuring things provided by the teacher with the help of a scale. She had no issues in doing cubit, foot, and hand span measurements. She has a helping nature towards her friends and was helping when her brother was finding difficulties in measuring his height. Chandrika has finished her 4th book and taken a practise 4th book. She makes mistakes in calculation but will improve if she focuses on her calculation steps.

Projects-

Birds

Chandrika's innate curiosity about birds made her a keen participant in the topic. She appreciated the opportunity to learn about birds' sounds and behaviours, recognizing some bird calls during bird-watching outings in the forest.

She was enthusiastic about using binoculars to observe birds. Her curiosity led her to collect feathers from some of the birds during these outings. Chandrika's questions about birds were diverse, including topics like avian sleep patterns. While she occasionally required more time to respond to questions in class, she actively contributed to drawing birds and writing about them, eventually creating a book. Her interest in the topic was evident through her questions during documentary sessions.

Occupation

Chandrika wants to become a pilot when she grows up and fly an aeroplane and help people and earn money. In the class she had drawn an aeroplane, and it was very neat and clean. She wrote a few lines about it and did a role play and showed it to her friends in the class. She liked to do this topic because she found it very interesting.

Hindi

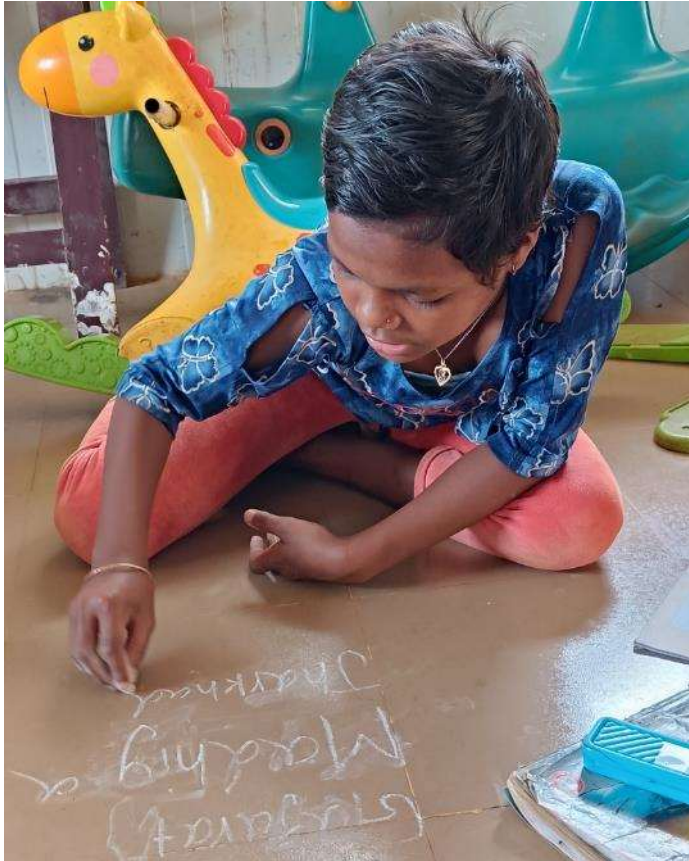

Chandrika is good at studies and has learnt basic grammar. She reads fluently and enjoys singing. Her reading has seen no significant improvement, but she practices. She struggled with Sanskrit words but was happy to learn Hawan mantras.

English

Chandrika is a well-behaved and attentive student. She pays close attention to her teacher during class, demonstrating excellent listening skills. Her enthusiasm for English class is evident, and she thoroughly enjoys her lessons.

Chandrika displays proper classroom etiquette by sitting attentively and maintaining her focus throughout the class. Her ability to speak English has notably improved over time, and she now communicates with a good pronunciation and fluency.

One of her keen interests is reading English storybooks. Chandrika has made significant progress in her reading skills and pronunciation. She can comfortably read English storybooks independently, and when she encounters unfamiliar words, she proactively seeks clarification from the teacher. Her reading abilities extend to level 3-4 books, showcasing her growing proficiency.

Furthermore, Chandrika takes pleasure in writing in English. She is regularly given dictations following group reading sessions. In these dictation exercises, she often demonstrates an impressive level of accuracy, correctly transcribing most of the words. Her neatly written words reflect a commendable handwriting style, with clarity and precision.

Chandrika should focus on improving her pronunciation and speaking more in English for better understanding. She sings beautifully but needs to overcome shyness. She enjoys watching English movies, although understanding them can be a bit challenging. Chandrika should be attentive during class to grasp the content better.

Odia

Chandrika comes on time, sits properly, and concentrates in class. She has a good understanding of the language and speaks in sentences with proper pronunciation, although she faces challenges with some Odia sounds, such as kha, gha, chha, and more. She is proficient in names of animals, birds, and body parts, takes interest in listening to stories, and enjoys singing songs.

Arts and Crafts

Chandrika enjoys art class, especially for the variety of paintings and crafts she gets to create based on her projects. She excels in crafting various items like hanging crafts and wall crafts, including birds and various other creations. Her art also extends to painting bird parts and nature scenes using oil pastels, as well as shading and crayon work. Chandrika is skilled at colouring her artwork beautifully and remains focused during art class.

Puzzles

Chandrika, during puzzle class, leans towards simpler puzzles, finding 150-piece ones well-suited to her. She can solve them independently, but for larger puzzles exceeding 500 pieces, she chooses to work with her friends. She takes great pleasure in working with friends on puzzles and strives to complete them with enthusiasm.

Games and Sports

Chandrika hesitates to play but she likes to play base-kickball. She can catch the ball very well. Her eye-hand coordination is good. Before playing, she likes to do exercises like windmill, neck rotation, side sit-up etc. She is in Boron group in games time.

Trip- For more details, refer to school report

Celebrations-

