

Kamallochan is an open, frank and obedient child. On his birth day he said "I prayed to Mother to stay clean and to concentrate on my work".

After that he has actually brought some change in his physical habits and cleanliness.

Sometimes he obeys everything that the Diyas say but it is for a short while.

For example almost every day after dinner he plays in the room and if diyas see and ask not to play, he stops playing for some time but the next day he starts again.

He never comes to the library to study after dinner.

He just wants to play all the time.

For playing he does not need a friend, he can spend time, play with a small object.

At times Kamallochan is very responsible and does his work with attention.

These days he is usually punctual to the group.

Sometimes he gets late, when asked, he says in a low voice "I was not able to eat my breakfast".

Many times he forgets to do his responsibilities in the group but when he is reminded he does without anyone's help.

He tends to jump high and walk fast with shouting when he is free and can't see anyone around him.

He has a good hand at drawing. He does not take interest to foe the art and craft class but when he is given a paper he draws well. He says "drawing is my favorite subject".

He likes to read the book “Chhota Bheem”, because it has a lot of colourful pictures.

Kamallochan reads and writes well. Sometimes he reads in the library loudly with full concentration. His comprehension skill is good.

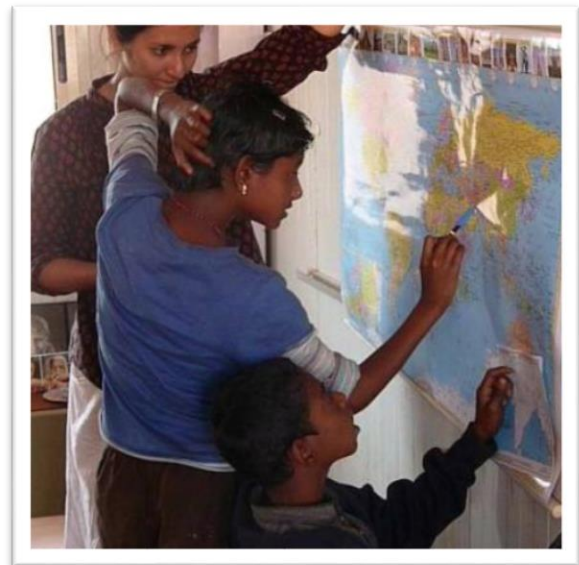

He does very few spelling mistakes when he writes. But he is very lazy to write. Sometimes he used to asks his friends to write for him and other days he would write untidily. After being told for many times he has improved his handwriting and writes on his own.

PROJECT CLASS - An absolute darling who knows the answer but lacks the perseverance to put it down. Intelligent and observant, he is full of energy and mischief.

He is very curious to know about the new things he sees. Once he saw some jade plants in our school campus. Even though he didn't know the name of the plant, he tried to find about from books. He was very observant on this occasion and asked a lot of question.

He is inquisitive when something interests him, but most disinterested for assigned topics and tasks. So at times he keeps looking out of the window and listens and does only when Diyas are firm with him.

He takes time to understand scientific concepts. In geography he needs repetition. Sometimes he gets irritated when corrected repeatedly.

HINDI LANGUAGE - He reads well, in case he reads a word wrong or pronounces wrong, he himself re-reads and corrects it.

When being explained, he is distracted, so doesn't understand grammar concepts easily.

He is master in dictation, he always scores well.

When he has to write he makes spelling mistakes.

We are emphasizing on improving his spellings and also his reading skills.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE - Kamallochan has overcome his lazy tendencies and is now active in class, which has helped him progress at a rate that he is capable of.

He has good spellings but his pronunciation is still slightly muffled.

He is not too fond of singing, though he likes to sing comical rhymes. In the carols however, he was much more open while singing.

He played his roles well during the drama without forgetting his lines.

Needs to be neater with his work.

He can talk English but stubbornly sticks to Hindi, though there are days when he brings tears to our eyes by uttering English sentences.

His writing is innovative and is consistent on most days with the amount he produces.
