INTRODUCTION:

Savitri, a 10-year-old hostel resident, exhibits independence in managing her personal hygiene and maintains a neat and clean appearance. She is characterized by her sincerity, politeness, and good classroom behaviour, demonstrating attentiveness and obedience to instructions. Savitri is also known for her helpful nature towards her friends. While she excels in her academic tasks and enjoys writing, she could benefit from opening up more and expressing herself.

ENGLISH:

Savitri is a quiet yet intelligent student who actively participates in class discussions and speaks English fluently. She understands and effectively retells English stories, concentrating and paying attention during lessons. While she comprehends stories well, Savitri needs to enhance her vocabulary. She has mastered reading and writing, excelling in reading phonics and storybooks. Her handwriting is neat, and she practices writing short paragraphs and stories for improvement. Savitri remembers all sounds, aiding her in dictations, where all her spellings are correct.

HINDI:

Savitri exhibits a calm demeanour and a remarkable ability to grasp concepts demonstrates proficiency in writing words with the matra "E," showcasing her dedication to language learning.

Notably, Savitri engages with various activities with enthusiasm, displaying a keen interest in reading diverse stories and crafting beautiful articles. Her proactive approach to learning is evident as she seeks clarification on unfamiliar words and assists her peers during study sessions.

Consistently diligent, Savitri diligently completes her homework and ensures that her work is checked daily, reflecting her commitment to academic excellence. Her adept memorization skills are evident in her recollection of numbers up to 45 in Hindi and accurate knowledge of Hindi months.

Savitri's participation as a narrator and bushes in the short play "Goats and Children" underscores her willingness to embrace diverse roles and contribute actively to classroom activities with enthusiasm.

Furthermore, her artistic flair shines through in her choice to draw a champa flower for the Mother's birthday, highlighting her creativity and thoughtfulness in commemorating special occasions.

PROJECTS:

In these six months, Savitri covered four topics in project class: food, occupation, transportation, and the solar system. In the food topic, she learned to cook chapatti and other dishes, which made her very happy. She was able to answer all questions related to the topic and helped her friends make charts based on it.

During the occupation topic, she gained an understanding of what constitutes an occupation, the different types of occupations, and how they contribute to society. Savitri expressed her ambition to become a doctor when she grows up.

In the transportation topic, Savitri showcased her creativity by making beautiful drawings of various modes of transport. She comprehended the significance of different modes of transport, the invention of the wheel, and road signs.

Savitri is typically quiet in project class but is attentive and actively participates in all activities. She excels in group work and maintains good relationships with her peers. While she has a good grasp of the eight planets, she feels a bit nervous when discussing them. However, with encouragement to speak freely, she can improve her speaking skills through practice.

She thoroughly enjoyed making models of the planets and demonstrated curiosity about space and astronauts led her to ask many questions, particularly about their activities and routines. Though initially confused between a rocket and a spacecraft, she was able to distinguish between them as the topic progressed.

Overall, Savitri demonstrates a keen interest in learning and actively engages with the material presented. With continued encouragement and opportunities for expression, she has the potential to further develop her knowledge and communication skills.
