Report for 2023-24 (first term)

Introduction

Khushi is an eight-year-old student. Her father is a farmer, and her mother is a housewife. Khushi has siblings who also study. Her favourite colours are red and green, and she loves puri and poha. She enjoys learning new songs and is a cheerful girl. While she may not talk much in class, she becomes active when interested. Khushi is obedient and listens to her teachers. In her free time, she loves playing with friends, and her teachers appreciate her participation in class.

English

Khushi is a quiet and reserved student who typically speaks only when directly asked. Despite her quiet nature, she excels in reading and can read fluently. She loves storybooks and often helps classmates with reading, showing her willingness to assist others. Khushi communicates in English and has neat, legible handwriting, but she is slow in writing and needs to improve her speed. She comprehends stories well and can accurately answer questions. In drama, she displays surprising confidence and is not shy about her role. Khushi remembers everything taught in class, reflecting her good spelling with easy words. With a focus on improving her writing speed, she will continue to excel in her studies.

Hindi

Khushi concentrates well on her studies these days. She has shown remarkable improvement while working with the group. She finished her first book a few days ago and now reads stories from the GYAN SAROVER book, solving the questions and answers related to those stories. She mostly likes to write and read different types of stories. She can read storybooks very easily, but she faces some difficulty in reading words containing matras; still, she tries to read them. She maintains a calm demeanour in class and completes her tasks promptly, both in class and outside. Although she struggles to pronounce some letters clearly while telling stories, she improves her speaking after the teacher corrects her. She does not spend much time learning songs and poetry; she prefers small poems. She performed a play on “GANESH CHATURTHI,” in which she became the narrator. She memorized her dialogues quickly, but when she goes on stage, she becomes nervous and speaks very softly. She drew pictures of the story “TEEN DOST” and narrated it to herself, thinking about it before displaying it on the board in the group. Although it took her time to tell the story, the other children enjoyed it. Khushi can count up to 85 in Hindi.

Projects

Khushi is an intelligent girl who quickly grasps concepts. While she is fidgety in class, she pays attention. She learnt how shadows are formed and enjoyed experimenting with shadows to make shapes. She can now differentiate between artificial and natural sources of light and was able to answer questions.

Natural Disaster:

She enjoyed learning about different types of natural disasters and their effects on mankind and properties. She now understands the causes and consequences of these disasters in people's daily lives. She drew pictures of landslides and depicted the struggles faced by affected individuals.

Maths

Khushi shows a keen interest in maths class and arrives in a happy mood. She is currently working from Book 3. When she encounters a word problem she doesn't understand, she asks the teacher to read it for her, which helps her grasp the concept more easily. She has a clear understanding of division but finds borrowing in subtraction challenging, particularly with three-digit problems. Encouraging her to practice with larger numbers in written form will help build her confidence and skills. She takes time to understand the process of finding the dividend and the roles of the dividend, divisor, quotient, and remainder. Although she took time to grasp the concept of fractions, she can divide figures into equal parts and write fractions for shaded and unshaded areas. She enjoys using coloured paper strips to express one-half, one-third, and one-fourth, and she can use the term “quarter” interchangeably with “one-fourth.” Through games, she has also learnt about numerators and denominators.

Arts

Khushi is a dedicated student who approaches her work with great care and commitment. Although she learns things a bit slowly, she ensures that her final results are executed properly. However, she struggles with paper folding, often finding her folds to be inaccurate. In art class, she is attentive and actively listens to her teacher, which helps her improve over time. Recently, Khushi was especially excited to make Rakhi for Raksha Bandhan, showing her enthusiasm for creating something meaningful for her brother.

Dance

Khushi is a girl of flexible mind. She can do any type of dance told to her. She is also a concentrating girl in the dance class. For the competition of 15th of august she did a dance on the song ankhamajal. She was taught this dance by Amita didi. She tried her best to perform on the stage. This was a solo dance performed by her for the first time on the stage and she won the first prize. She is interested in doing dance on the pahadi songs, north east songs and semi classical songs. On Independence Day they did a dance on the song naye bharat ka chehra. Now they are learning the dance on the song of depawali and a song of ram. For rakshabandhan they did a dance on the song o bahena meri that was taught to them by Amita didi.

Puzzles

Khushi loves Snow White puzzles, appreciating the colourful pictures. She finds 100-piece puzzles easy and prefers to work alone for better focus, attempting to finish at least half of larger puzzles in one hour.

Singing and drama

Khushi enjoys singing English songs, and her favourite is "I Wanna Be Like You." She learns new songs quickly and sings loudly and clearly with her friends. When given dialogues to memorize, she remembers them quickly and performs well. She enjoys watching English animated movies with her friends.

Gardening

Khushi enjoys digging the soil and planting more flowers to beautify the garden.

Games

Khushi prefers minor games and demonstrates enthusiasm while playing. While she isn't particularly keen on football, she engages sincerely in joint exercises and running drills, positively contributing to team efforts. When disinterested, she tends to watch the game.

Celebration

Khusi participated in various celebrations. On 15th August, she recited the action poem "Mai Naye Bharat Ka Chehra Hoon." She participated in singing on Janmashtami, taught by Shantanu Da, Durba Didi, and Mitra Didi. During Ganesh Puja, she played the role of narrator in the Hindi play "Baal Ganesh." Khusi actively participated in Raksha Bandhan, dancing to the song "Behan Meri."
