

Bhuvan is really growing up by physically, mentally and emotionally.

He can take care of himself, he stays clean and hygienic and wears clean clothes. He has become responsible for his things.

Sometimes he keeps his 3 year old younger brother Shivam in the hostel with him and takes cares of him as a father.

The days Shivam stays in the hostel, Bhuvan gets up early in the morning and reads stories with him. Else he gets up late.

These days he folds his blanket and arranges his bed in the morning.

Bhuvan has multiple facets to his personality. He is a child for the Diyas and talks to them as a child whereas he is an adult for his friends and talks to them as an adult in a different tone.

He is soft in nature as he talks politely and obeys the diyas.

Sometimes he needs a firm voice but he can't bear anger.

He becomes stubborn when he is asked something with anger.

Few days back he was crying to go home in the evening without having a genuine reason to do so. But now he is quite settled and never asks to go home without any reason.

BHUVAN, 10 years
CONCENTRATION GROUP

It is difficult to figure out what Bhuvan is interested in. Sometimes he seems to be interested in all activities. After doing for some days he loses interest. When he is told he goes for the activity.

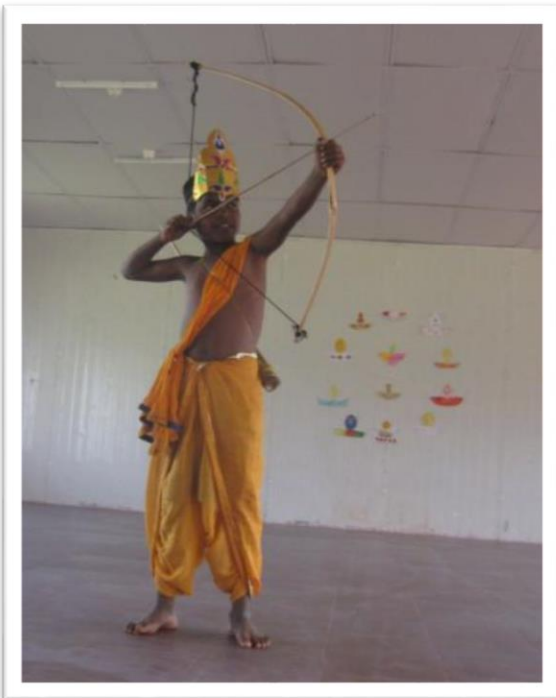

He was the one who first requested for art and craft class but after some days he became irregular. Now he has resumed the classes again. The same thing happened with flute class. Often he comes late for the class and reads Amar Chitra Katha comics instead. Though he plays well and has a good sense of rhythm he is not focused.

For some days he was quite interested in math and science. He also has interest in geography and history, he reads and comprehends well.

His handwriting is good but uses very small letters. He has good writing skill. Because of his fickleness he cannot finish his work on time, even though he understands and remembers well.

His answering skill is good, he writes accurate answers when questioned from a book/topic.

PROJECT CLASS - Dislikes writing but loves reading. Slow in finishing his work. Smiling and excited on most days. Is encouraged to build his writing/expressive abilities.

BHUVAN, 10 years
CONCENTRATION GROUP

MATH - Bhuvan's attention in math is very poor. Mostly he seems disinterested. He just sits in the class, looks here and there or plays with pen and pencils to pass time. He needs continuous reminder to practice.

He is doing the Class IV book currently. His multiplication and division concepts are not clear.

Most of the time he is unable to concentrate and he needs someone to make him solve problems.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE - Bhuvan is very bright and knows the English language quite well. He is able to write and speak well and is very dramatic, making him an ideal candidate for drama.

His spellings are good and so are his pronunciation. Grammar is sound and he is able to write and speak quite comfortably.

Is able to read well. He is lazy and needs to be prodded to do his work but is a voracious reader and learns a lot from that hobby.

Not too fond of singing. His writing was good but he has turned in half baked work lately.

ODIA LANGUAGE - Bhuvan lives in a relaxed world. He is never serious in his learning. He knows most of the Odia terms. He expresses many of the Odia words and structures mixing it with his native language. He loves to sing the Odia song - Ajaa Ajaa (grandfather).

He tries to read as nicely as possible. He feels uneasy and tired at the time of writing. He enjoys listening to stories and speaks making funny gestures.

BHUVAN, 10 years

CONCENTRATION GROUP

PROJECTS - Under the topic Oceans Bhuvan was involved in finding out answers to questions like "how does the ocean form"? from the encyclopedia. Though this was little tough for him. He found it easy when explained. Then he was able to write in his own words. Difficult concepts can be made easy for Bhuvan when explained through a story. His writing shows that perhaps he could visualize the situation of evaporation of the hot of molten lava and falling of rain drops when it cools in the space.

Mountains: In this topic he learnt - What are mountains? What types of mountains are there? How do they form? "The formation of mountain" was a bit difficult to understand for him but when it was explained through objects it was clearer to him. Bhuvan made a very sincere effort to make his model explaining mountains in front of the group.

Desert: In this topic he did the geography part such as the equator, climate zones, and tropics. After which he moved towards plants, animals and people of deserts and got the answers from various books. But here also he was stuck on the question of formation of deserts. Though he found out the reasons easily still he found it difficult to understand.

HINDI LANGUAGE - Since Bhuvan knows that he has learnt to read and write in Hindi fairly well he has become lax and does not pay attention.

He is capable of understanding everything quickly. Recently when told to write a poem, remembering that the hunting season was on, he wrote a poem of 20 lines. He imagined he was an animal who was being hunted down.

He needs to improve his handwriting though.

SANSKRIT LANGUAGE - Bhuvan reads, but he has problem in pronouncing some words.

He is able to create sentences and also separate the words as per the gender.

He does translation from Hindi to Sanskrit and vice versa.

He is lazy about writing but when he starts writing he does well.

BHUVAN, 10 years
CONCENTRATION GROUP

GAMES AND SPORTS - Bhuvan plays the role of a stable defender in Football. He has been running more and getting his passing better, even venturing to take headers.

In Basketball, he still fumbles a little while passing and shooting and is working on that area. He enjoys playing, gets little moody at times. Needs to build his stamina. He is taking interest in Volleyball.

On Sport's Day he participated in Acrobatics, Football, Circus, and Skating. Bhuvan was dressed to kill and that along with his set of skills, was a delight to watch.

BHUVAN, 10 years
CONCENTRATION GROUP