

An affectionate, simple and responsible child Sushila is regular in the school.

She has very good rapport with everyone but she mostly talks to the small children.

She is an independent worker as she never waits for her friends to help her, unless she is teamed with someone.

She never complain about cleaning the group, and arranging the shelves.

She is an emotional child. If she makes a mistake, she takes a long time to speak up, when asked.

Once she realizes her mistake she tries not to do it again. Earlier she would cry when asked.

Once she said "From now on I won't cry as much".

These days she is serious about her studies.

Though she does not spend extra time in study, she never misses classes and is also attentive in the class.

She has a good understanding ability in geography, activities such as mapping, and the globe related concepts. But she faces difficulties in science related concepts.

She takes lot of interest in activities and experiments.

Her handwriting is neat and clean.

She has the habit of writing date and day before starting any writing. Most of her notebooks have pictures drawn by her.

A TRUE STORY ABOUT ME

I am not happy being a human being. If I were a bird then I would be happy. Because the birds are pretty.

But I like the concentration in myself.

I have devoted this year in learning computers, art, reading and Mother messages and I listen to good messages.

Math: Sushila's understanding in mathematics has improved. Slowly she is trying to understand and solve the problems by her own self. Sometimes she forgets what she has learnt earlier. She is currently doing Book - IV. While doing word problems she needs help to think about the process. Her accuracy in calculations is improving. She understands well and she does her work well.

PROJECT WORK : Reserved and moody. Sushila is slow and requires her own time and space to complete her work.

Under the topic mountains and ocean Sushila faced some problem in understanding the concept of the formation. For mountains, only reading and explanation did not work, she understood through objects. Though she understood the concept still she found it difficult to explain the formation of mountains to others. She took interest in recognizing different mountains near school and in drawing their pictures.

She found answers to some of these questions from different books. Mid way she kept losing interest as she could not find some answers.

Through experiments, drawings, and role play she understood the concept of rain shadow, dry air currents, ocean currents and high pressure. She was never upset when reminded repeatedly to correct herself.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE - Sushila has been slowly improving in her work. She has grasp of the grammatical aspects but still needs to get a firmer grip of it.

She doesn't talk in English much but during the drama, she learned a lot as to how to enunciate and be surer of herself as she was slightly conscious but that did not hamper with her delivering her lines. In class now, she speaks English more often. Her spellings are on the better side.

She can tend to fade away in class sometimes. She also tends to reproduce stories she hears and avoids originality but has shown the ability to be creative. She is irregular in submitting her work to be checked.

To understand oceans we showed a lot of picture of earth and the evaporation of molten lava. Slowly she could understand some of it but could not express it properly through writing.

Under the topic Deserts, first she learnt geography concepts such as poles, hemispheres, climate zones, tropics and the equator. Her questions about desert were - how do deserts form? How have they become hot and cold? In deserts how do snakes live? And how does a camel walk? Do the people eat rice like us? What types of deserts are there?
