

Pushkar Kamar

Date of Birth-June17, 2015

Report for 2022-23 (first term)

English

Pushkar sits quietly in the group. He had to put in a lot of effort to memorize the poem ‘God’ because he had difficulty in pronouncing some of the words. He likes taking part in dramas and he wanted the role of Shiva but because of his weakness in remembering the dialogues, he was given the role of a peacock. Moreover, while delivering his dialogues, he does not open his mouth fully and his voice is not too clear. During the storytelling time he always falls asleep. He likes music and is interested in singing.

Mathematics

He can do forward and backward counting with a great deal of ease. He is a little distracted in this class. He tries to recognize the numbers till 10. He does skip counting of 2 and 5 fluently, though if he does it too fast then he tends to make mistakes. He gets disturbed when his mother comes to the group and calls him and then his concentration fails absolutely. He made many designs and patterns with the rangometry kit and in this he can distinguish between different shapes and colours and was quite good in colour classification and separation of the shapes as well. He did it very fast. He learnt how to make toys with the jodo cubes. He loved it and wanted to do it again. After he finished making the toys, the didis narrated a short story by using the toys made by him and his friends.

Projects

Colours

Family

He loved doing this topic for his project because he loves to make drawings and so, he really concentrated in the class. He can draw different object of different colours very fast. Initially, he was a little confused in recognizing the colours but after finishing this topic, he can now tell the names of different colours. To learn about colours in the natural way, the didis took him to the garden where he was able to observe the different natural colours. He listened to the colour-related stories very carefully and did not hesitate to ask questions to clear his concepts. To find out whether he had learnt to recognize colours, he was asked to touch a colour and give its name. He decorated his display board with a beautiful drawing. He participated in a dance on the song, ‘chanda chamke’. He enjoyed doing the role of skinny hen.

He chose 'My Family' as his second topic. He made drawings of his family and was able to identify them correctly. His drawings were neat and clean. He is able to say the names of his family members in English. Pushkar tries to speak in English while giving an introduction of his family. He took part in many programmes in the celebrations and on 15th August, he sang a song, 'Sri Aurobindo name anando'. On 19th August, on the day of Janmashtami, he played the role of Lord Krishna's friend, Subala in the play, 'Makhan Chor'. On 30th August, he performed the dance; Parbati Nandan. He was excited to perform it.

Arts

He is very interested in doing drawing or any related activities. He listens to the instructions given by the didis very carefully but sometimes gets very distracted. In these six months he has improved a lot in paper folding, colouring and cutting and pasting. He likes cutting the paper and he is eager to learn new things. He made ladybird, snail, flower, house, nuts and painted a tree with birds. He had coloured a bird with navy blue and yellow. He always enjoys these activities and after finishing his work, helps his friends to finish it.

Games

Pushkar is a healthy and energetic boy who likes to play all the games and do exercises and running also. But he gets very distracted. He sometimes runs around or stays in his world and then he does not listen to his teachers. When he is in a good mood then he not only listens to the music but also plays nicely. He loves to play outdoor games and he likes running.
