

PALLAVI, 3.5 YRS

Pallavi is a budding dancer of our group.

She is fond of dressing up – clothes, earrings, necklace, make up, she likes them all.

She maintains herself cleanly, even ensures her lips not dry.

Pallavi is not regular to school. So that she attends school regularly, we tried to keep her in the hostel for some of months with her cousin in Faith Group.

She is fond of singing rhymes and chanting. She picks up a new chanting/song taught with some repetition. Saraswati Vandana is the chanting she likes most.

She is fond of action songs in which she can use her dancing skills, her hands, legs, she even tries eye movements.

Her pronunciation in English is good. In Hindi she speaks full sentences.

Once when told – this is Pranjal Bhaiya's school, she emphasised to Bina Di – this is our school !!

Pallavi watches movies very keenly. Later she shares the story with her group mates. She is often found narrating the story with actions.

She is not particularly interested in clay modelling, drawing and colouring, but when encouraged that her sheet would be put up the board, she tries to do well.

She is learning to count from 1 to 20. At times she uses her tribal language.

She was regular to school, when she stayed in the hostel. During those days she progressed well in all spheres, counting, songs, rhymes and also improved her vocabulary.
